SOCIOLOGY (SOC)

Courses

SOC 103. Introduction To Sociology. 3 Credits.
Students are introduced to the scientific study of society through basic sociological concepts, theories and perspectives. Concepts covered will include culture, socialization, social statuses and roles, social inequalities (race, class, gender and age), social institutions (such as family, education, religion, economy, government, politics, media and health), deviance, and social change. In order to create global awareness, students will develop critical thinking skills by making connections between their own lives and the broader social community. Prerequisites: ENG 098, FYE 101, RDG 098, or placement.

SOC 125. Gender Issues. 3 Credits.
This course examines the social forces that influence the lives of men and women. One theme is that gender is a social formation. A second theme is that race and class relations intersect with gender relations to produce difference and inequality. Issues covered in this class will include gender identity, sexuality, body image, work, and intimate relationships. Prerequisites: ENG 098, FYE 101, RDG 098, or placement. Fall.

SOC 129. Drug Use And Abuse In American Society. 3 Credits.
This course offers a sociological analysis of the drug problem in the United States and the consequences of drug addiction to individuals and society. It includes a factual exploration of selected drug types, reasons for use, drug laws, and drug treatment programs. Prerequisite: SOC 103 (or corequisite).

SOC 204. Sociology of the African American. 3 Credits.
This course is a sociological analysis of African-American society in the United States. Key social institutions will be examined: media, schools, family, political, economic, religious, and legal as related to the criminal justice system on micro and macro levels, as they pertain to African-Americans. This course will examine the sociological point of view of African Americans from slavery through current events. Prerequisites: ENG 101, SOC 103. Spring.

SOC 205. Social Problems. 3 Credits.
Students are exposed to major problem areas such as crime and delinquency, poverty, racial bias, family, and education issues by evaluating their magnitude, their development, and society’s attempts to alleviate the problems. Prerequisite: SOC 103. Spring.

SOC 206. Marriage And The Family. 3 Credits.
This course examines how families are constructed and the relationship between families and larger social forces. Students will explore the range of forms families take, ideologies surrounding the family, violence within families, and the ways that paid work, unpaid work, and government policies shape families. Prerequisites: ENG 098, FYE 101, RDG 098, or placement.

SOC 208. Juvenile Delinquency. 3 Credits.
This course presents an overview of the nature of the adolescent offender and the juvenile justice system. Students will study various theories of delinquent behavior, social forces that affect delinquency, the origins and philosophy of the juvenile justice system, and current methods of preventing and treating delinquency. Prerequisite: SOC 103. Fall.

SOC 210. Child Abuse And Neglect In American Society. 3 Credits.
Students investigate the growing problem of child abuse and neglect in American society. Psychodynamic and sociocultural factors that contribute to child abuse will be considered with an emphasis on prevention, reporting of abuse cases, intervention, and treatment. Prerequisite: SOC 103. Spring.

SOC 212. Victimology. 3 Credits.
This course presents an overview of the emerging field of victimology and the scientific study of crime victims. It looks at the extent of victimization, demographic patterns influencing the likelihood of victimization, and the social and psychological effects of being a crime victim. Special categories are examined, including victims of family violence, the elderly, sexual assault victims, child victims, homicide victims and their survivors, victims of hate crimes, and victims of terrorism. The course also covers the legal rights of victims, their treatment within the criminal justice system, and the range of civil remedies and social service programs available to victims, both nationally and in Massachusetts. Prerequisite: SOC 103. Fall.
